Introduction:

The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Questioning (LGBTQ) History Project began in 2015 as collaboration between Roanoke College, Roanoke Diversity Center and Roanoke Public Libraries in an effort to collect and preserve information on the history of the LGBTQ community in the Roanoke Valley and Southwest Virginia. Members of the community were encouraged to donate items relevant to the scope of this collection. Accruals are expected.

Historical Note:

It is generally acknowledged that the modern day LGBTQ civil rights movement began in New York City in June 1969 with the Stonewall Riots. Prior to and since this time, a number of activists, individuals, and organizations fought to bring recognition of LGBTQ civil rights to the forefront of American society. While the movement was primarily centered in New York City and San Francisco, periodicals, guide books, and ephemeral material interconnected the larger LGBTQ community throughout the United States, including the Roanoke Valley and Southwest Virginia.

The first known organization, the Gay Alliance of the Roanoke Valley, was formed in 1971. During its short time, the Gay Alliance of the Roanoke Valley published a newsletter called the Big Lick Gayzette. Several years after the Alliance folded, a new organization, the Free Alliance for Individual Rights (FAIR), was formed in 1978. The formation of this organization was brought about as a result of police stings targeting gay men in Roanoke adult bookstores, the City Market and Elmwood Park. FAIR also published a newsletter, The Virginia Gayzette, to present a balanced picture of the LGBTQ community as more than “deviants, perverts and lawbreakers” and to keep the community informed. In the decades since, other organizations have formed, such as Roanoke Pride, PRISM Foundation, Roanoke Valley Chapter of Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays (PFLAG) and the Roanoke Diversity Center, to promote equal rights, offer support, and educate the general public on LGTBQ issues.
